

What exactly is "Stericycle"?

After being started in 1989, the Stericycle company expanded to become the largest medical waste services provider in the nation by 2000, and continued growing into a large business, first publically traded in 1996. Stericycle replaced a previous company, and is now the contractor transporting and disposing of the Regulated Medical Waste at the Plattsburgh State College.

Stericycle was founded on the belief that there was a need for safe and environmentally responsible management of regulated wastes.

Environmental Responsibility

1-866-783-7422

Stericycle is committed to protecting the environment. We use our knowledge to develop the most environmental friendly services for our customers and willingly share our environmental expertise with them.

Our Sharps Management Service featuring Bio Systems re-usable containers has prevented over 73 million plastic containers from ending up in landfills. Our Pharmaceutical Waste Compliance programs help hundreds of hospitals, medical offices, pharmacies and pharmaceutical manufacturers properly dispose of drugs so that they don't end up in lakes and streams.

From our beginning, we have championed the use of non-incineration treatment technologies. We are helping more and more customers properly segregate their waste streams, which reduces the need for incineration. We have been able to close many of our incinerator facilities, and have helped hundreds of customers shut down their on-site incinerators. Currently, about 10% of Stericycle's U.S. treatment capacity includes incineration, down from more than 30% in 2001.
