Biographical Note

The Kent-Delord Collection is comprised of a wide variety of business and personal materials of a number of individuals and families who were linked directly and indirectly to the lineage of Henry Delord through several generations. Henry Delord (1764-1825) was born in France, and in 1784 emigrated to Martinique in the eastern Caribbean to work on his uncle’s sugar plantation. Henry subsequently moved to northern New York as an agent for a large landholder, and first settled in the Quaker settlement near Peru, south of Plattsburgh, in Clinton County. Here he married Elizabeth (Betsey) Ketchum late in 1799, and eleven years later they moved to a cottage on a three-acre plot purchased from Judge James Kent, at the mouth of the Saranac River in Plattsburgh. Henry became a farmer, as well as opening a general store on his property, which was known as the “Red Store.” Henry and Betsey had one child, Frances Henrietta Delord (1813-1834), who in 1832 married Henry Livingston Webb (1795-1846), an Albany import-export merchant who dealt in china, porcelain and crockery. Henry L. Webb was one of ten surviving offspring of Joseph Webb Jr. and Abigail Chester, of Connecticut. Henry Delord passed away in 1825, after having lost his fortune to un-repaid credit he had extended to officers and enlisted men in Plattsburgh during the War of 1812. Four years after his death, Betsey remarried to William Swetland (1782-1864), a successful Plattsburgh attorney. They produced no children.

Frances Henrietta Delord died three weeks after giving birth to the daughter she bore with Henry Livingston Webb: Frances (Fanny) Delord Webb (1834-1913). At age 22, Fanny married Rev. Francis (Frank) Bloodgood Hall in 1856. Frank was the son of Major Nathaniel Nye Hall and Margaret Bloodgood, of Albany. A graduate of Princeton Theological Seminary, Frank served as chaplain for the 16th New York regiment during the Civil War, and in 1897 was issued the Medal of Honor for extraordinary heroism in 1863, in action at Salem Heights, Fredericksburg, Virginia. After the war, he and Fanny established the Peristrome Presbyterian Church in Plattsburgh, for which he served as its first pastor. Fanny and Frank also established the Cumberland Bay Works at the Kent-Delord house in Plattsburgh, at which they produced and sold a skin salve labeled as Fanoline. Fanny had no children. Frank died at the Kent-Delord house in 1903, as did Fanny in 1913. She was the last family member to live at the house.

Scope of the collection

The Kent-Delord Collection of manuscripts owned by the Kent-Delord House Museum is deposited on loan at Special Collections, Feinberg Library, SUNY Plattsburgh. The Kent-Delord Collection consists of several thousand items, which includes 192 ledgers and notebooks that are itemized as a separate series within the collection. The range of materials is substantial, dating from the 1760s to the first quarter of the 1900s. Hundreds of correspondence items from the 1830s-1840s pertain to early Webb family mercantile businesses primarily in the Albany, New York, area. Other early business items relate to the Hamilton Manufacturing Society glass works at what is now Guilderland. Also present are a variety of legal deeds, agreements, contracts, bonds, real estate transactions, bills, receipts, cancelled checks, and other business documents. Personal and general correspondence is represented for a number of individuals, including Gen. Benjamin Mooers, Henry Delord, Elizabeth Ketchum Delord Swetland, Henry Webb, Francis Bloodgood Hall, J.W. Moore, and Frances Delord Webb Hall, among others. A substantial part of the collection relates to Frank and Fanny Hall, especially in relation to their activities in the Plattsburgh community and nearby areas. Notable here are documents related to the First Presbyterian Church, the Peristrome Presbyterian Church, the Presbytery of Champlain, and the Plattsburgh Academy. Numerous items reflect their concern and involvement with the Women’s Christian Temperance Union, the Women’s Relief corps, and the Temperance Movement in general as evidenced by newspaper clippings scrapbooks. Other documents are associated with Frank Hall’s theological study at Princeton University’s Union College, and his role as Reverend at the Peristrome Church is represented by hundreds of his handwritten sermons from 1856 to 1902. Miscellaneous items in the collection include Civil War era pamphlets, Fanoline patent applications and decals, Fanny Delord Webb’s piano music folios, and photographs of Elizabeth “Betsey” Ketchum, Frances Delord Webb, and Pliny Moore. Notable also are maps of Redford, New York (1832), Riverside Cemetery in Plattsburgh (1862), and Franklin B. Hough’s Map of Franklin County (1853).

Included in the collection is the land grant on which Plattsburgh was founded, issued to Zephaniah Platt by Governor George Clinton.

The series of 195 volumes in the collection are a wide variety of ledgers, journals, cash and day books, invoice and sales books, letter books, check books, etc., most of which date between 1764 and the 1860s. The primary businessmen associated with these were Henry Delord, Henry Livingston Webb, and Rev. Francis (Frank) Hall. However, a number of other individuals related to the business involvements of Henry L. Webb are also represented in the materials, including Henry L. Webb’s father (Joseph Webb, Jr.), three of Henry’s siblings (Joseph Hayes Webb, John Haynes Webb, Charles Barret Webb), and business partners such as George Dummer (1782-1853) and Alfred Douglas. All were prominent businessmen, variably associated with the import, manufacture, and sale of china, earthenware and glassware in Albany and New York City. The names of companies included in the ledgers are Joseph Webb; Webb & Dummer; J. H. & H. L. Webb; Webb & Douglas; Webb, Chester & Co.; H. & C. Webb & Co.; and Henry L. Webb, who sold out the last of his business ventures in Albany in 1844. Sales books of these companies, in particular, offer a detailed vision of the wide range of their merchandise and its distribution. Additional materials in the collection pertain to the establishment and operations of early window glass and bottle factories in the Albany area, including MacGregor & Co. in the 1790s, and the Hamilton Manufacturing Society which ran from 1797 to 1815 at what is now called Guilderland. Records are also present for the Hamilton Tannery in the same time period (1796). Also from the Albany area are the legal Term and Vacation books of James Bloodgood who served as a Supreme Court clerk from c. 1797-1810, and who later served as Mayor of Albany. Other items in the ledger series include account books of the Bailey and Delord store (the “Red Store”) in Plattsburgh for 1808-1816, and day books of Benjamin Mooers store, also in Plattsburgh, for 1804-1825. A number of account and note books pertain to Francis B. Hall, both before and after his marriage to Fanny Delord. Of note are a ledger (1892-1916) for sales of the Fanoline skin ointment that Fanny and Francis developed in Plattsburgh at their Cumberland Bay Works; journals and ledgers of the Peristrome Presbyterian Church of Plattsburgh at which Francis was Reverend; and a notebook kept by Fanny Delord on her honeymoon trip to Paris in 1856.

The Kent-Delord Additional Materials (81.14) have been interfiled with the Kent-Delord Collection (66.7) and many of the items are not in chronological order.

The Kent-Delord Collection consists of 37 series and is arranged by personal names and subjects. See ‘Series List’ for series titles and date ranges.

Bailey & Delord was a mercantile firm in Plattsburgh owned by William Bailey and Henry Delord. It began in 1813 and was dissolved by mutual consent in 1816. The firm suffered a severe financial loss during the War of 1812 when troops were stationed in Plattsburgh both before and after the Battle of Plattsburgh. Bailey & Delord were instructed to extend credit to the soldiers, being assured that they would be reimbursed by the government.

Efforts to secure reimbursement were made for many years, even as late as 1841. The efforts were continued by Mrs. Delord and William Bailey after the death of Henry Delord in 1825. The claims made to the government were never paid.

These papers consist of correspondence, bills, promissory notes, receipts, accounts, memoranda, and papers pertaining to the business and the dissolution of the partnership.

66.7c: Delord Family Papers, 1799-1914

Business and other personal papers of Henry Delord (1764-1825), Elizabeth (Ketchum) Delord (1784-1870), his wife, and other members of the Delord family.

Henry Delord, a native of France, came from the West Indies and settled first in Peru, where he was a merchant, postmaster and justice of the peace. He moved to Plattsburgh in 1811 and became a prominent citizen, engaging in the mercantile business with William Bailey as his partner, and serving as judge of the court of common pleas and as county supervisor.
Henry Delord’s papers consist of letters concerning local, state, and national political affairs, the building of the Great Northern Turnpike, military affairs at Plattsburgh during the War of 1812, travel and other personal and business matters.

The papers of Mrs. Delord, mainly letters from friends concerning personal affairs, reveal various aspects of life in the early 1800’s.

The papers of Frances Henrietta Delord, daughter of Henry and Elizabeth, are comprised of correspondence with her mother and friends when she was in school in Champlain. Two letters from Henry Livingston Webb, her fiancé, and other letters from friends prior to her marriage in 1832.

There are also many correspondences (mostly in French) between the Delords of Plattsburgh and Julia Delord of Nimes, France, sister of Henry Delord.

Other papers concern the Kent-Delord House property and its furnishings, abstracts of sheriff’s sales, deeds, and other papers pertaining to ownership.

66.7e: Mooers, Benjamin, 1758-1838, Papers, 1785-1836, 1853, 1872

Benjamin Mooers (1758-1838) was a Major-General in the New York State Militia. He served in the Revolutionary War and the War of 1812. Mooers was also an early landowner in the northern part of Clinton County, first sheriff, county treasurer, and a member of the State Legislature.

This series consists of family papers, personal business papers, papers relating to his position as county treasurer and as state legislator. Included are receipts and other papers relative to the wolf bounty, papers concerning the Bank of Plattsburgh, of which he was president, documents assigning him powers of attorney to act on behalf of Canadian refugees who claimed benefits from the United States Government including grants of land in the Canadian and Nova Scotia Refugee Tract. Other papers pertain to lands owned by General Mooers and to his lawsuit against the estate of Moses Hazen.

66.7s: Norton, Christopher F., Papers, 1856-1880

Norton was a banker and lumberman of Plattsburgh in the second half of the 19th century. His papers are mostly handwritten memoranda of the mortgages he held.

Box/Folder

1/1 Memoranda of the mortgages held by Norton.

1/1/10 Agreement between Mr. Norton and Andrew Williams and Smith M. Weed, concerning the Rogers Ore Bed in Dannemora, N.Y.

66.7t: Miscellaneous Papers

Box 1 Assorted documents related to C. K. Averill, Reuben Walworth, William Beaumont, the Davidson Sisters, The Presbyterian Church of Champlain, and others.

Box/Folder

1/1 Printed speech of Mr. Gross of New York on the restriction of slavery in Missouri, delivered in Congress on February 1, 1820.

1/2 Letters from Cornelia Smith to her sister Mary Smith of Plattsburgh.

1/3 Handwritten speech labeled "New Jersey Speech, May 26, 1859" delivered on the completion of the Northern Railroad of New Jersey.
1/4 Letters and business document signed by C. K. Averill, postmaster of Rouses Point.

In the spring of 1811 a public meeting was held for the purpose of organizing an academy. On May 14, 1811 land was purchased on the corner of Oak and Brinkerhoff streets from Abraham Brinkerhoff Jr. for $100. The building was started immediately and ready for occupancy in the fall with Bela Edgerton as the first principal.

In the latter part of 1813 the building was leased to the U.S. government and used as a barracks for the artillery. After the War of 1812 the academy was repaired and again used for school purposes. A ladies' school was opened in the Academy in the spring of 1817 with Miss Hern as teacher.

On November 10, 1871 the Academy was totally destroyed by fire. The building was rebuilt and completed in 1873. This building eventually became the Plattsburgh High School.
