March 13, 2020

Dear Campus Community,

As we complete this week and head into spring break, I am writing to update you on a few items.

Virtual Town Halls on Tuesday, March 17
First, I am hosting two virtual Town Hall meetings next Tuesday -- one geared for faculty/staff and the other for students, though you can tune in to either one. While I wish we could gather directly, this is the next best thing.

The Town Hall will provide you the opportunity to ask questions and share innovative ideas and suggestions on how best to support our students for the remainder of the semester. I anticipate the conversation will generate a to-do list for items we may not have focused on as closely.

Please save the time and date. We will send the details on how to access next week.

- Faculty and Staff: 10 a.m., Tuesday, March 17
- Students: 2 p.m., Tuesday, March 17

Second, we’re working collectively to answer questions, provide clarity and explain what we know as we can.

Please continue to check the college's standing COVID-19 information page anytime. It can be reached at plattsburgh.edu/coronavirus. This is the definitive source of information for campus.

Rising Together
Finally, the uncertainty across all parts of our lives is clear. I encourage you to recharge this weekend. Rising above takes energy, time and focus.

We will rise above — together and in abundance — as we move forward.
